

ANPA Chief Hits Ban on Newsmen To Red China

Charges U. S. is Responsible for Bamboo Curtain

NEW YORK (AP) — William Dwight, president of the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., charged today that the U. S. government is responsible for keeping the Bamboo Curtain around Red China.

In a strong attack on the State Department's ban on travel by American newsmen in China, Dwight told the ANPA's 71st annual convention that the government's policy runs counter to "the people's right to know—a precious right inherent in our way of life." He promised that the ANPA would continue to oppose this policy "at the highest level."

Dwight, who is president of the Holyoke (Mass.) Transcript-Telegram, said the ANPA has asked the President, the secretary of state and Congress "that newspapermen who are American citizens and are employed by American publications and newsgathering services to gather and write news or express opinion on facts be accorded by our government freedom to travel for that purpose in any country in the world with which the United States is not at war."

"ANPA has in mind particularly the granting of the right to go to Red China and report back to the American people," he said. "The Bamboo Curtain now stands by order of our government between us and Red China."

Dwight's speech at a general meeting of delegates marked the second day of the convention at the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. More than 1,200 publishers from the United States, Canada, Hawaii and Puerto Rico are attending the various sessions dealing with all phases of daily newspaper publication. The convention ends Thursday.

The delegates heard Charles W. Boyce, ANPA newsprint consultant, outline in detail the dangers inherent in the current tight supply of newsprint in a period of record expansion in circulation and advertising.

"The price of newsprint has been increased to new peak levels," Dwight said. "It doesn't require a C.P.A. to conclude that some newspapers are being pushed to the limit of their economic endurance. There can come the time when the burden of this cost will become so excessive that newspapers will be compelled to reduce their use of newsprint."

Face Slapping, Hair Pulling

Order Full Explanations of Wild Brawl in Home of Peruvian Singer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The District attorney's office ordered full explanations today of a wild brawl involving fiery Peruvian singer Yma Sumac, her estranged husband and an assorted cast.

The brawl Tuesday was the second altercation in 16 hours resulting from strained relations between the South American beauty billed as the Inca Sun Goddess, and her musical-director spouse, Moises Vivanco, 38.

The district attorney ordered "in person" explanations from Miss Sumac; her husband; two hot-blooded Inca dancers; three private detectives and a male Peruvian harpist. The family's collie dog, Prince, had a barking-snapping role in the fracas.

The luxurious $100,000 Cheviot Hills home of Miss Sumac and Vivanco, whom she sued for divorce only a week ago, fairly trembled from the piercing screams of Miss Sumac's celebrated five-octave voice during the face-slapping, hair-pulling, head-bumping, clothes-tearing free-for-all. Some blood was drawn and at least one 220-pound private detective hit the deck.

Miss Sumac sported a black eye but was credited with uncorking some of the most resounding blows—five slaps across the face of one of her maids, Esmilia Cavallos, 15.

Photographers and reporters who followed Miss Sumac to the palatial house scrambled to safety to witness the battle royal, which they described as "a whale of a battle" with "fuf flying in all directions."

The brawl lasted some 20 minutes, with time out only for name-calling and breath-catching. It was broken up by a carload of police and district attorney's men summoned to the scene.

There were no arrests, but all participants agreed to meet today at the district attorney's office.

House Group Votes to Continue Sales, Use Taxes Indefinitely

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — The House Revenue Committee of the General Assembly Tuesday voted favorably on bills to continue the state sales and use taxes at their present 2 1/2 per cent levels indefinitely.

The vote was in line with Stratton's budget message statement that no new sales tax increase would be necessary for the coming two years.

In other actions:

The Senate passed and sent to the governor for signature a bill to exempt trade-ins from the use tax on out of state purchases, and thus bring that tax in line with the sales tax which exempts trade-ins.

The House Judiciary Committee delayed for three weeks action on bills to abolish the death penalty in Illinois.

Rep. Robert W. McCarthy (D-Lincoln), sponsor of the bills, said the death penalty was not a deterrent to murder, but Rep. Hector A. Brouillet (R-Chicago) disagreed and said "We ought to restore the rope" and work to "protect the public and not the murderer."

The House advanced to passage stage bills for a 75 cents an hour minimum wage, mandatory daylight saving time throughout Illinois and a $600,000 a year state scholarship program.

The daylight time bill would make first time mandatory from the first Sunday in April to the last Sunday in September.

The 75 cents minimum wage law has the support of Stratton.

The scholarship program would provide 1,000 scholarships a year up to $600 each for needy and qualified students. The scholarships could be used at either public or private colleges and universities.

Amendments to the bill were defeated which would have required students to repay the money within 15 years, and would have included junior colleges and business colleges among the institutions where the scholarships could be used.

Archie, one of the American prisoners of war who chose to remain with his Chinese Red captors, was believed to be honeymooning in the East St. Louis, Ill., area. Pate said he understood his son is planning to work as a chauffeur for a St. Louis family.

However, Pate said the youth could return to the farm if he wished.

"He's written me a letter apologizing for whipping his daddy, so now he can come back," the father said.

Youth Commission To Open Forestry Camp for Boys

SPRINGFIELD (AP) — Gov. William G. Stratton today announced the Illinois Youth Commission will open a new forestry camp for boys at Union State Forest seven miles northwest of Anna-Jonesboro.

The new camp will be opened in late summer and will accommodate 20 to 30 boys in Youth Commission custody at the start.

The boys will do forestry work at the camp. Youth Commission Chairman Robert D. Patton said purpose of the camp and four others operated by the commission, is rehabilitation of youthful offenders and to provide a step between custody in an institution and parole to civilian life.

The four other camps are near Marseilles, Oregon, Metropolis and Dixon Springs.

Urges Slash in Foreign Aid to Cut Living Costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said today the administration can take the lead in cutting the rising cost of living by slashing the foreign aid program 75 per cent.

McClellan said one billion dollars in foreign aid should be enough "to meet any responsibility we have or anything we might spend that would be of benefit to this country."

"That would bring the budget down three billion to start with," he said.

"The budget can be cut rather substantially. It won't be, I realize, but it should be."

The government reported Tuesday the cost of living hit a record high in March for the seventh straight month. Moreover, a federal official predicted food and other prices would climb still higher this month.

The Agriculture Department Tuesday night said farm net income this year is likely to climb above $12,200,000,000 — almost a half billion dollars higher than in 1956.

The rise this year would come from increased federal payments to farmers from the soil bank program. They are expected to more than offset any reduction in cash marketing receipts which the department expects to be below those of 1956.

The Commerce Department Tuesday night said high employment and rising wages sent personal income of Americans to new records in the first quarter of the year. The department said the record flow of personal income kept the economy on a high plane despite some soft spots.

The report said personal income reached an annual rate of $337,500,000,000 in March—4 billion dollars higher than in the last quarter of 1956 and 19 billion higher than March of 1955.

However, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said the purchasing power of the average factory worker's pay check dropped last month for the second month in a row. The decline wiped out gains in buying power made in the last 12 months.

Couple Held for Robbing Bank

LEWISTOWN, Ill. (AP) — Bank robbery charges were filed today against a young married couple who left their three small children with a babysitter while they held up the State Bank at Fairview.

The couple, William S. Green, 24, and his wife, Margaret, 23, of Sterling, was captured at a roadblock about 40 miles and 46 minutes after the holdup Tuesday.

U. S. Dist. Atty. John B. Stoddard Jr., who filed charges against the couple at Springfield, said he would ask $25,000 bond each when they are brought before a U. S. commissioner at Peoria, probably today.

State police said Green was carrying a .38 revolver when captured and readily admitted the robbery. The couple entered the bank shortly after noon, Green carrying a gun and his wife standing watch at the door.

Green demanded that the two employees present, Harold Omer and Barbara Scheckler, "Give me the cash."

He got about $3,000 which was recovered. The pair then ran from the bank and fled in an automobile.

However, a mill employee, Larry Myers, saw the couple dash from the bank and pursued them in his car long enough to jot down their license number.

Murray Stinson of Eldorado (center) and State Police Sgt. Herbert Bramlet of Equality, as he was returned to the Saline county jail yesterday afternoon following his arraignment before U. S. American Aviator Reports Flying Trip to China to Rescue Boy

HONG KONG (AP) — U. S. officials in this British colony and in Tokyo were reported today to have opened investigations into an American aviator's story that he rescued the 13-year-old son of Nationalist Chinese parents by flying into Red China.

Informed sources in Hong Kong were frankly skeptical of pilot Henry Bush's report that he flew an old PBV amphibian from an island near the Portuguese colony of Macao into the Chinese mainland 350 miles due north on the mercy errand.

Bush, 42, formerly of West Massapequa, N. Y., stuck by his story in Tokyo and said he was concerned that the State Department might revoke his passport because of its regulations banning Americans from Red China.

"I hope they understand why I did what I did," he said.

A U. S. embassy spokesman in Tokyo said Bush's flight had been discussed at the embassy but the only official reaction was "no comment."

One-Day Trip

Bush said an American went along on the flight as the co-pilot. But he refused to identify him or the Chinese family involved.

Bush claimed the Chinese family had an old PBV gassed up and waiting for him at an island near Macao and that he took off for China April 5 at sunrise.

He said he picked up the boy at an abandoned air field in China and returned the same day, a launch taking the boy from the wreck.

Dr. L. I. Webb Shows Films of Trip To Mexico at Meeting of Kiwanis Club

A very interesting travelogue of a trip to Mexico with beautiful colored slides featured the program at the Kiwanis club meeting last night at the Masonic temple.

Dr. L. I. Webb, who visited Mexico last year as a delegate for Baptist Brotherhood International from Illinois, gave a very interesting report of his trip and commentary on the pictures of scenes visited.

He stated he went to Mexico, not as a tourist, but to look at Baptist Missions in the Mexico field. The tour started with a group of 29 at Laredo, Texas, where they were joined by others to make up a group of 50 for the tour of Mexico.

The films started with a picture of the First Baptist church in Harrisburg. Dr. Webb's home church, and ended at his home.

New Way to Fish At Kentucky Lake Brings Bigger Bass

Charlie Skaggs said today he doesn't expect anybody to believe it—but honestly, it happened.

He and Brosia Greer were fishing Monday on Kentucky Lake. They were fishing with poles and lines for crappie and were just letting the boat drift.

The boat drifted up to the shore and Charlie took his paddle to push it out again and as the paddle hit the bank a large fish flopped into the boat.

"I thought it was a snake at first but saw it was a bass," Charlie said. "I grabbed it and held it down while Brosia got the stringer."

"Back at the dock we weighed it and it weighed five pounds."

When asked which of the was claiming he made the catch, Charlie said:

"I am; it landed the closest to me. I never ever caught a fish that big on a hook."

Condemnation Suit is Settled

A condemnation suit, involving right-of-way for U. S. Route 45 near Stonefort, was settled yesterday, the day it was scheduled to be heard by a circuit court jury.

The suit involved the Division of Highways, Illinois Department of Public Works and Buildings, and the Stonefort post of the American Legion. Land involved was a 30-foot strip along the highway the length of the Stonefort reunion and the adjacent American Legion grounds.

It was learned that the state agreed to pay the Legion post $15,000 damages and to dump a quantity of dirt onto the grounds. The Legion must move the monument and the Legion building.

The state was represented by Atty. George B. Lee, the Legion post by Atty. D. F. Rumsey.

All other right-of-way in condemnation proceedings filed by the state for that area already has been disposed of or is in the process of arbitration, Atty. Lee stated.

Mother of M. P. McDonald Dies

M. P. McDonald of 200 North Webster left Monday night for Galena to attend the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Catherine McDonald. Rites will be in the Catholic church there at 9 a. m. Thursday. Mrs. McDonald died Saturday night in New York state where she had been making her home in recent years.

Will Be Returned To St. Louis To Face Charges

Paul E. Brewer, 36, Admits Personal
Part in 5 Robberies

Paul Edgar Brewer, 36, who admitted in Harrisburg last night that he was one of a quartet of holdup men who committed 13 armed robberies in the St. Louis, Kansas City and Wichita, Kansas, areas, was scheduled to be returned to St. Louis today to face charges there.

Brewer, alias Paul Edward Baugh, was arrested around 9 a. m. yesterday on Route 45 near Eldorado by two Illinois State Police sergeants, Murray Stinson of Eldorado and Herbert Bramlet of Equality, who had been told by state police radio to be on the lookout for a fugitive in a taxicab en route from Cape Girardeau, Mo., to Evansville.

Brought to the Saline county jail here, Brewer was very talkative but refused to implicate himself in any crimes while being questioned by federal, state and county officers.

Personal Part in Five

However, when Edward J. Kelly of St. Louis, special agent of the American Express Co., came to town and confronted him with incriminating circumstances, Brewer admitted that three men already being held were his accomplices, that the group was responsible for 13 armed robberies and that he personally took part in five armed robberies at St. Louis, in which the "take" was approximately $15,000.

When the two state police sergeants rushed the taxicab with shotguns near the Eldorado city limits yesterday morning, Brewer had $719.14 on him. He was not armed. The cab driver told the officers that Brewer had given him a fifty dollar bill at Cape Girardeau to drive him to Evansville and was released to return home.

After questioning yesterday morning and early yesterday afternoon, Brewer was handcuffed and taken before U. S. Commissioner Harry L. McCabe in Harrisburg, where he was arraigned on federal charges of unlawful flight to avoid prosecution. McCabe set his bond at $7,500 and ordered his temporary commitment to the Saline county jail pending the arrival of St. Louis police.

Completes Confession

Kelly, who came here because large numbers of American Express money orders were involved in the holdups, arrived late in the afternoon and began questioning Brewer about specific holdups.

Then, around 7 p. m., Brewer had completed his confession in the presence of Sheriff William T. Barrett, Sergeant Bramlet, a Federal Bureau of Investigation agent and Kelly.

He admitted his accomplices were: His brother, Eldon Edward Brewer, alias Eldon Edward Baugh, now being held in Vanderburgh county jail at Evansville on federal charges of interstate shipment of stolen property; Hugh Edward Burtham, held in jail at Los Angeles; and John W. Sherrill, arrested at New Orleans but who yesterday was en route to Wichita to face armed robbery charges there.

He said that different combinations

Reuther's Pace Gets Fast

Editorial — BY BRUCE BLOSSAT

When Walter Reuther announces a bargaining objective either for labor generally or for his United Automobile Workers (UAW), industry does not take the matter lightly. His ideas have a way of setting the pace, and turning up in labor contracts.

His union was in the van in promoting long term contracts with "escalator" wage clauses tied to changes in the cost of living. It was the same with the so-called guaranteed annual wage.

Now Reuther says the UAW will shoot in 1958 for a shorter work week while at the same time seeking higher hourly pay.

Undoubtedly this is a broad goal desired not simply by the UAW or even organized labor but by all the working populace. A hundred years ago the work week was six days and the work day 14 hours.
Progressive reductions have marked the upward course of industrial civilization.

But by and large these slashes in working time have come as technical advances allowed great gains in output per man — the measure of productivity. So, too, have wages climbed with the steady march of efficiency.

Any serious forcing of either wage boosts or work-time cuts, however, can have a damaging rather than beneficial effect. Such gains are not real but artificial.
They can be inflationary, though they are far from the sole cause of inflation.

Reuther appears to recognize this, for he says any general cut in hours can't come from arbitrary action by either labor or management. It must emerge from the justifying economic facts, and basically that means advancing productivity.

Yet labor leaders by the nature of their position are committed to pressing for improvements at every chance, and not always are they mindful of the economic reasonableness of their claims. Powerful unions like the UAW can force the pace.

What Reuther has proposed is in the long range eminently desirable. But his quest for this goal will win general support and respect only as he sticks to the rule that fulfillment must be built upon a sound economic foundation.

No Life Net Required

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

DREW PEARSON Says:
Flexible Farm Price Supports
Will Be Dumped; Ike Tells GOP Leaders That Farm Supports Are A Vicious Circle;
King Saud Promised King
Hussein To Support Him In Case Of Revolt.

WASHINGTON. — President

Eisenhower and Secretary Benson have a new farm program about ready to spring on the farmers. It will probably mean:
The end of all farm price supports.

Meeting with Republican leaders in Congress last week, the President gave a preview of the plan. He described the present farm price support program as a vicious circle. When crop surpluses are disposed of abroad, he pointed out, the law requires that domestic price supports increase.
"This means that farmers increase their production and we have more surpluses," said the President. "If our present laws are inadequate to deal with this situation, then they ought to be changed. We are not wedded to any program, if it isn't working."

Secretary Benson, who attended the meeting, agreed that his flexible program hadn't worked out as well as he had hoped, but he contended that this was partly because of "mandatory provisions" still in the law, establishing 75 per cent minimums for price supports on basic crops — corn, wheat, cotton, rice and peanuts.

An over-all review of the crop price and surplus situation would be made with an eye to corrective legislation, Benson reported. Farm organizations would be consulted.
However, he emphasized that Congress should assume a great part of the responsibility. He didn't want to be left carrying the ball alone, declared the Secretary of Agriculture.

BIG FARMERS PROFIT

Another objection raised by Eisenhower was the high cost to the taxpayers of maintaining the current Benson program, as reflected by the Agriculture Department's budget of $5,300,000,000. In this connection, congressional leaders reported that some farm senators felt that the cost of sending surplus farm goods abroad should be charged to the foreign aid program, not the farm program.

Eisenhower said he was opposed to this, pointing out that farmers
"get the benefit of the surplus disposal program."

The President also contended that the bulk of the benefits under the present program were going to big farmers, and that "the small farmer isn't getting his rightful share." One reason for this, it was brought out, was that big farmers could make a living out of Benson's soil bank program, even if they take a large part of their soil out of production — something little farmers cannot afford to do.

Note 1: Farm organizations report that big farmers and "absentee" city farmers are engaged in a wave of land buying, then putting these acres into the soil bank.
Note 2: It wasn't mentioned at the White House meeting, but some GOP politicians say they're tired of appeasing the farm belt, believe it's better to let farm prices drop and get political credit with consumers and housewives for lower prices.

INSIDE JORDAN

Here is more of the inside story on why King Hussein suddenly got up enough nerve to fire his pro-Communist premier and army chief.

King Saud of Saudi Arabia telephoned the 22-year-old king, pledging that his troops would rush to the latter's aid in case of any fighting. He told King Hussein that he could consider himself commander-in-chief of the 3-000 Saudi troops already stationed in Jordan and that they would fight to the death for him.

This dramatic phone call gave Hussein the courage he needed to crack down on pro-Russian leaders and take over as the real boss of Jordan. So it looks as if Ike's entertainment of King Saud has begun to pay off.

DIPLOMATIC POUCH

Prime Minister Nkrumah of the new Negro nation of Ghana has asked President Eisenhower to a white man instead of a Negro as American ambassador. Nkrumah wants a top-flight career diplomat sent to his country because he believes a white ambassador's recommendations would pack more weight than those of an American Negro politician. The man Ike will probably name is career officer Wilson Flake. . . .

Moscow may be facing another
Hungary — this time in the Baltic.
Anti-Russian riots are sweeping the tiny Baltic states of Estonia, Latvia, and Lithuania. Moscow has moved in troops and police.
Several hundred patriots have been arrested. . . . Marshal Tito, who bragged only six months ago he no longer needed American military aid, is now begging for American jet fighters. Tito says the picture has changed because Russia is again threatening him.

Special U. S. Ambassador
Richard has decided he will not visit Egypt to explain the new Eisenhower doctrine even if Dictator Nasser does invite him.
Richards has been angling for an invitation to Cairo ever since he began his Middle East tour, but now that Egypt has ignored his overtures he's so mad that he's cabled the State Department he won't go even if invited. . . .
Egyptian agents are stirring up the Jordan populace against new Prime Minister Hussein Khalidi
on the charge that he is an American puppet and that his son is an American citizen. (It's true that his son, Hatem Khalidi, is an American citizen, working for a Louisiana oil company.) . . . The Midwest spotlight will soon move to Morocco, where the U. S. is involved in a buildup campaign for Sultan Mohammed as a forceful counterpart for Nasser influence in Africa. This isn't making France too happy. Premier Mollet is privately furious. Latest move
The U. S. Air Force bypassed the French last week and opened direct negotiations with Mohammed for a base in Morocco.

Thinking It Over

By Robert L. Dieffenbacher, D.D.
(Written for NEA Service)

Some people are ashamed to pray when they are faced with mental torment. They are self-conscious about the many times they have forgotten to pray when all was going well. They suddenly become aware of their shortcomings and realize that they need help from an outside source.

These folk are also ashamed to turn to their friends or associates when the going is not easy. They prefer to bottle up their troubles and allow pride to rule their lives.
Pride is not conducive to Godly living. Jesus, who was the greatest example of humility, prayed when His lot was almost too great to bear. Even with His divine character He did not carry His burden alone.

We must not be ashamed to turn to God. We must not be too proud to seek God's aid. We must be humble and admit our errors, our sins and our weaknesses. In so doing we shall find strength from God.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

For we must all appear before the judgment seat of Christ.—II
Cor. 5:10.

Scholars differ about the character of this judgment. All are agreed that in one way or another we are measured by the perfection of that Jesus of Nazareth who was crucified for sins he never committed as Pilot and Herod agreed.

'56 Loss by Big Fires Estimated At $330 Million

BOSTON — Big fires in the United States and Canada in 1956 caused an estimated $330,156,000 loss—the worst in history.

The two countries reported 430 large fires last year with individual loss of at least $250,000. And 86 of them caused one million dollars or more damage.

The report was released today
by the National Fire Protection Assn. in its annual study of fires in North America.

The NEPA said the previous high fire loss was in 1953 when damage in the United States and Canada was set at $274,374,500.

Industrial fire losses topped the unprecedented fire destruction.
More than 100 large loss industrial fires were reported and 14 large loss church fires equalled the total number over the preceding three years.

More than 400 persons perished

cular aches and pains that often cause restless nights and miserable tired-out feelings.

relief — want it fast! Another disturbance may be mild bladder irritation following wrong food and drink — often setting up a restless uncomfortable feeling.

For quick relief get Doan's Pills. They work fast in 3 separate ways: 1. by speedy pain-relieving action to ease torment of nagging backache, headache, muscular aches and pains. 2. by their soothing effect on bladder irritation. 3. by their mild diuretic action tending to increase output of the 15 miles of kidney tubes.

Find out how quickly this 2-way medicine goes to work. Enjoy a good night's sleep and the same happy relief millions have for over 60 years. Ask for new, large size and

CONSTIPATED?

New laxative discovery un-locks bowel blocks without gag, bloot or gripe

Constipation is caused by what doctors call a "thrift" colon that, instead of retaining moisture as it should, does the opposite: robs the colon of so much moisture that its contents become dehydrated, so dry that they block the bowel; so shrunken that they fail to excite or stimulate the urge to purge that propels and expels waste from your body.

To regain normal regularity, the dry, shrunken, constipating contents of your colon which now block your bowel must be re-moistened. Second, bulk must be brought to your colon to S-T-R-E-T-C-H STIMULATE it to action; to a normal urge to purge.

And, of all laxatives, only COLONOID, the amazing new laxative discovery possesses COLONOID's great moisturiz-ing capacity, plus COLONOID's stretch-stimulating bulk. So effective it relieves even chronic constipation overnight, COLONOID is yet so smooth, so gentle it has proved safe even for women in critical stages of pregnancy.

Superior to old style bulk, salt or drug laxatives, COLONOID neither gags, bloats nor gripes; won't interfere with absorption of vitamins and other valuable food nutrients; in clinical tests, did not cause rash or other reactions.

It's a physiological fact: Exercise tones your body! And COLONOID exercises your colon to tone it against constipation, overnight! Get COLONOID, in easy-to-take tablet form at any drug counter, today! Only 98c for the 60 tablet package, brings positive relief at less than 2c per tablet.

Automobile Industry Seeks New Brakes To Meet Challenge of High Horsepower

PUTTING ON THE BRAKES: What looks like a phantom car here is the complete mockup of a brake system being tested by General Motors researchers in search for better brakes.

By DOUGLAS LARSEN
NEA Staff Correspondent

DETROIT—(NEA)—The automobile industry is seeking new brakes for its horsepower race.

This does not mean less powerful engines. It's a vast research program to get new and improved brakes for safe control of all the new power.

Next year will probably find the biggest jump yet in horsepower, to challenge the brake developers as never before.

The power jump will come from the widespread offering of fuel-injection engines as optional equipment. Fuel injection means shooting liquid gas directly into the piston chamber, shortcutting the conventional carburetor system of first vaporizing the fuel.

This reporter has just driven an experimental Pontiac with a fuel-injection system, planned to be offered to the public next year. It's like being behind the wheel of a souped-up sports car. The acceleration, from any speed, is astonishing.

It's this startling boost in engine performance which the new fuel-injection systems and other improvements will offer next year that now has the brake researchers working overtime.

During the past 10 years almost everyone in the car design business has been working at odds with the brake boys.

Cars have been built heavier, making them harder to stop. Automatic transmissions have eliminated the braking effect of engines. Styling has covered the wheels and made them smaller, increasing the vital heat dissipation problem.

New roads have increased the average highway speed, putting a greater strain on brakes. Congested city traffic has also put an added burden on brake systems.

Up until now the brake experts have kept pace by improving the basic components of the conventional drum system. This involves the principle of applying friction to the inside rim of the cake-tin-shaped drum.

The metal parts of the brake assembly have been constantly improved to take greater heat and wear. Brake systems have been stabilized so that stopping does not pull a car to one side. Brake linings have also been improved to take greater wear and heat.

So-called power brakes are not considered a fundamental improvement. Actually, power brakes only make it easier for the driver to push the pedal down. They do not add any inherent stopping qualities to the brake system.

Today, however, brake research is taking some basic new approaches to the problem of keeping high-powered cars under control. This includes improving the traction of tires.

The friction between tire and road has always been the basic limiting factor in brake development. When a brake locks a wheel, the maximum action it can take in stopping a car quickly, only the friction of the skidding tire is left to bring the vehicle to a halt.

Now this problem has been successfully attacked by the Pentred Corp. of Marshfield, Wis., with the help of the University of Wisconsin. It's a method of introducing special steel coils in the tread without adding driving noise but providing emergency traction and non-skid properties.

During normal driving the steel ends remain embedded in the tire. But when the brake is suddenly applied, the tire tends to flatten on the road, and the steel emerges like a cat's claws. Goodyear is rushing experiments with this tread and is already producing some tires with it on a limited basis.

Most brake research is now exploring the disc principle. This is the equivalent of stopping a spinning cymbal by clamping another cymbal to it.

This system is noisy. "Another drawback is that dirt water, salt and slush cannot be sealed out," explains a General Motors expert.

Ford, Chrysler and GM all have elaborate disc brake research programs. The experts believe the noise and sealing problems can be licked.

At the same time work is still being done to improve the drum system. Chrysler has a new brake which applies more uniform friction to the drum. Studebaker-Packard is adding fins to the drum to speed cooling. Oldsmobile is attacking the ever-present heat dissipation problem with a flange on the drum.

The Bendix company, which makes about one-quarter of all the brakes for the industry, is working with a revolutionary lining material that includes a ceramic substance.

Most industry experts believe that the 1958 models will come up with the first major improve-

IHSA Censures Herrin for Its Allocation of Sectional Tickets

CHICAGO (AP)—The Illinois High School Assn. has "severely censured" Herrin High School, winner of the 1957 state high school basketball tournament, for violating IHSA rules in allocation of tickets for the Herrin sectional cage tourney.

Al Willis, executive-secretary of the IHSA, said the association's board of directors also voted to bar Herrin from playing host to sectional tournaments in the future until it gives assurance it will distribute tickets according to the association's regulations.

Willis said today that the censuring move was voted at a board meeting in Olney April 16. He said no public announcement of the action was made because "that is not the board's policy."

The IHSA governing board acted on a protest filed by Steven Clark, principal of the Alexander County Central High School at Tamm.

Clark complained that Herrin High School did not give the Tamm school its fair share of tickets for the meet at Herrin.

Willis said the IHSA had ruled that if the host school is a participating team in a sectional tournament, the host school is to get 60 per cent of the tickets and the visiting school 40 per cent.

"We told them how the tickets should be allocated and they didn't do it that way," he said.

Willis said Eugene Eckert, principal of Herrin High, admitted that the Tamm school was not given 40 per cent of the tickets.

"He gave the explanation that Herrin's season ticket holders were given the quota they had during the regular season" and that there were not sufficient tickets remaining to give Alexander County High its full quota, Willis said.

In Herrin, Eckert said he felt the tickets were distributed as well as possible "under the circumstances." He said Herrin fans had been sold season tickets with the understanding that they would get the same seats if the sectional was assigned to the school.

"I've got to live with these people down here," Eckert said. He said "schools participating in the Herrin sectional tournament received a larger percentage of sectional seats than Herrin did at the West Frankfort supersectional or the state tournament at Champaign."

Herrin won the state championship by edging past Collinsville, 45-42, in the finals last month.

Father of J. W. Henderson Dies

Information was received of the death of Ben M. Henderson at his home in Versailles, Ind., this morning after a long illness caused by leukemia. He is the father of James W. Henderson, 108 West Homer, who is the Farm Bureau Insurance agency manager. He was called home about two weeks ago by the critical illness of his father and has remained there. Mrs. Henderson left Wednesday night for Versailles. No funeral arrangements had been made at the time of Mrs. Henderson's departure.

Auto Hits House, Two Men Killed

BELLEVILLE, Ill. (AP)—Two Belleville men were killed Tuesday when their automobile careened into a brick house, demolishing the car and scattering bricks over a 50-foot area.

Dead were the driver, Barney J. Lind, and a passenger, Arthur Krupp, 64.

Residents of the home escaped injury. Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Duncan were in the living room when the machine struck the front wall. Police said the automobile was traveling north when it began to weave, jumped a curbstone and crashed into the house.

Good News for Kids

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here's good news for the kids: The world is running out of castor oil.

The Commerce Department said today that in the next few years castor bean demand will far outstrip the supply. The department blamed it all on new commercial uses for castor oil—particularly in the production of new nylon synthetics.

Twins Taken by Mother Returned To Valier Home

VALIER, Ill. (AP)—Judy and Julie Hart, 2-year-old twins, were back in the home of a Valier couple today after being spirited away by their mother.

State police located the tiny twins at Sesser, Ill., Tuesday night in the company of Mrs. Nettie Hart and her twin-sister, Etta Martin, both 37.

Authorities said the girls were taken from the home of Mr. and Mrs. Don Green, where their father, Clifford, of Centralia, had boarded them because he and his wife are estranged.

Intoxication and disorderly conduct charges were placed against the twins' mother and aunt. John Wheelan, 42, who drove the women away they took the girls, was charged with drunken driving.

Mobs Demand Resignation of Jordan Gov't

Stone-throwing mobs surged through Amman and other principal Jordanian cities today to enforce demands for the resignation of pro-Western Premier Hussein El Khalidi's government.

Khalidi, however, was standing firm. After a 90-minute conference with King Hussein, he announced: "I have not resigned."

As mob rule and civil war threatened Jordan, another Middle East crisis apparently had run its course through the channels of diplomacy.

Cairo published its long-awaited terms for operation of the Suez Canal.

Egypt, the document said, will run the canal on its own terms, including collection of tolls.

The most important concession Egypt made was that disputes over operations and tolls could be taken to arbitration.

The United States formally requested a meeting of the U. N. Security Council to consider the canal situation. No date was set for the meeting but there were indications that it would be called for Friday.

Justice Dep't Official Quits

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Justice Department official has resigned because of reported dissatisfaction over the department's handling of possible antitrust violations by major oil companies.

A Justice Department spokesman today confirmed the resignation of Horace L. Flurry, who has been with the department's antitrust division for 15 years, but refused to comment on why Flurry quit.

The Washington Post and Times Herald said he quit because high-ranking officials in the department interfered with his handling of an antitrust case against major oil companies.

A grand jury was convened in nearby Alexandria, Va., on March 4 to determine whether major oil companies conspired to raise prices to take advantage of the Suez Canal crisis.

Department officials at the time emphasized that the government has no jurisdiction over prices as such but only over any collusive price-fixing activities by the industry.

Women Admit False Affidavits Against Witness

Claim They Were Threatened as Narcotics Addicts

WASHINGTON (AP)—Two women narcotics addicts testified today they signed false affidavits against a Senate Rackets Committee star witness because a Portland, Ore., deputy sheriff threatened to jail them or send them to a mental hospital.

They told the committee that after signing the statements, the deputy—George Minelli—gave them money and urged them to hide from a Portland grand jury and to keep clear of the rackets committee.

Minelli called their testimony "the greatest hoax ever pushed on the American people."

Mrs. Kathleen Lucille Cooper Weeks, a self-described prostitute and narcotics addict, said the statements in the affidavit she made against Portland racketeer James B. Elkins were "false."

Elkins was the star witness for the committee in its expose of racket and vice operations in Portland a month ago.

Mrs. Mary Childress, who said she is "not a prostitute" although she was arrested in 1933 as one, said the statements she made against Elkins also were false. She supported Mrs. Weeks' statement that Minelli had threatened them.

Mrs. Childress said she is "not acquainted" with Elkins and cannot testify on the truth or falsity of the statements made against him.

Mrs. Weeks was the first of the two women to testify that she signed a false affidavit.

Her affidavit was offered to the Senate committee last month by Mayor Terry D. Schruk of Portland. It accused Elkins of taking profits from prostitution, using narcotics, and "doctoring" tape recordings which Elkins used as evidence against Teamster Union officials and Schruk.

Elkins had accused the Teamsters leaders of running various types of vice and gambling in Portland with Schruk's consent cooperation.

Mrs. Weeks said Minelli led her and Mrs. Childress, to make the false statements about Elkins.

"They made it plain I'd be in Salem, Ore., for six months, be held for interrogation, and possibly go to prison for something I didn't do," Mrs. Weeks testified.

She said that by "Salem" she meant a state hospital in Salem, Ore., for narcotics addicts and insane persons.

Minelli preceded Mrs. Weeks to the witness stand and swore he made no threats to the women. He said he had driven them back to Portland from Laredo, Tex., where they were arrested after being deported from Mexico.

He said he made no suggestions about the content of their affidavits.

Brewer, who said he and his brother used the name "Baugh" because that was the name of their stepfather, said that he had traveled since the burglaries thru Mexico and California and was "always just a jump ahead of the law."

Kelly said the burglaries began Nov. 24 and continued until March of this year. He praised the work of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in bringing the cases to a solution.

Brewer, who said he and his brother used the name "Baugh" because that was the name of their stepfather, said that he had traveled since the burglaries thru Mexico and California and was "always just a jump ahead of the law."

Narrow Escape From Law
They almost caught him in California, he said, declaring he stepped on the gas and darted away in his automobile just as an officer grabbed the car's door handle.

He said that officers spotted him near Dexter, Mo., Monday night but gave chase. He said, however, he was driving his own "souped up" auto and got away, driving into a farm yard.

As he got out of the car, he said, he could see the lighted red dome light of a police car in the distance and abandoned his auto, making his way into fields and woods.

He said at one time bloodhounds were within five feet of him as he lay on his back in water, all but his nose submerged.

Then, he said, he made his way to Cape Girardeau, where he hired the cab driver to take him to Evansville, presumably to contact his brother there.

He said that when he was stopped by the Illinois officers "I might have made a break for it if they had stepped out of their car with pistols, but those shotguns—they'll cut you in two."

He said he had been shot at a number of times but had never been hit.

His clothing was still wet from hiding in water and from rain when arrested, officers stated.

Brewer said that he really had no home town, that he was always on the move. He was born in Newman, Ill., he stated.

Eases at Waco Flood Threat

By United Press
Summer flexed its muscles in the East today, and violent thunderstorms tapered off in the West, easing a flood threat at Waco, Tex.

A wave of mild, muggy Gulf air drifted across the East from the Mississippi River to the Atlantic Coast, bringing summery temperatures throughout the area.

A storm center in the West weakened after touching off a flurry of damaging tornadoes and flooding rains. Precipitation in the area was generally light overnight, although College Station, Tex., reported more than a half inch and Monroe and Shreveport, La., had more than a quarter inch.

A flash flood along Waco Creek, which only a few weeks ago was a dry ditch, forced hundreds of persons from their homes in Waco Tuesday, but most of them were back today.

The rain-swollen Brazos River threatened to flood some 6,000 homes in the eastern section of the city Tuesday night, but began receding after cresting at 29 1-2 feet.

Local flooding also was reported at Dallas and Fort Worth. Two tornadoes were sighted in the vicinity of Waco where a twister four years ago killed 114 persons. The tornadoes, near Bryan and south of Waco, did not touch ground. They brought to 36 the number of twisters to rake the state since last Friday.

District Federation of Women's Clubs Meeting Held at Presbyterian Church

The 24th district of the Federation of Women's clubs met Tuesday at the Presbyterian church here. Special guests were Mrs. Ervin J. Heckel of Downers Grove, president of the state federation, and Mrs. Walter Collins of West Frankfort, vice-president and director of the southern region who spoke on "Federation Blueprint" at the morning meeting.

Mrs. Heckel made the keynote address, "The Little Thing," at the afternoon session. The special music began with the organ prelude, played by Mrs. Mildred Boicourt before the meeting opened at 9:30 a. m. Mrs. Elvie Gidcomb sang at the morning meeting and again during the memorial service accompanied by Mrs. Hudson Mudge, and Tommie Craggs and his younger brother, Jeffrey, aged seven, opened the afternoon meeting with an organ recital. Tommie included "Fair Lord Jesus" at the request of one of the convention guests, a song which had been sung by the group in the morning session, led by Mrs. L. N. Davenport.

Mrs. J. L. Miller, district president, opened the meeting and the pledge of allegiance to the flag was led by Mrs. Ray Johnson. The Rev. William Burroughs, host minister, gave the invocation and Amos Doom, representing Mayor Claud Gibbons, extended greetings.

Mrs. E. Bishop Hill, hostess club president, welcomed the guests from the more than twenty clubs represented, and Mrs. Roy Milburn of New Burnside, junior past president, responded.

Retiring officers are as follows: Mrs. S. C. Madden of Grayville, first vice-president; Mrs. R. H. Hodges of Fairfield, second vice-president; Mrs. Louise Leveau of Metropolis, recording secretary; Mrs. Hack Wilson of Eldorado, treasurer; Mrs. Clyde Pittman of Harrisburg, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Roy Seal of Ozark, parliamentarian; and Mrs. Alta Porter of Harrisburg, historian.

Various past officers were named.

of the "good little things you do because you are a member of a federated club." She pointed out that the federation draws no church affiliation lines, no political lines, no lines because of a husband's profession, and makes no economic status barriers. This makes the federation of some 850,000 members, a unique organization. She urged the women to read the federation magazine, "The Clubwoman," as an inspiration based on what other clubs in the federation are doing; to realize the scope of the varied interests of the members and the vastness of the program from which the individual club may choose its program; renewing interest in old projects and perhaps helping to add or change to new ones. She closed her address with a quotation from the poem, "The House By the Side of the Road."

Miss Grace Henley, herself a teacher for many years, made the "Oscars for Teachers" award to Harrisburg's own Miss Bess Pemberton, who had taught school for 53 years before her retirement. Miss Pemberton expressed her gratitude and feeling of pride in being chosen teacher of the year and emphasized that teaching is rich in its rewards and that although her annual salary for the first four years of her service was less than the minimum salary for a month at the present time, she had enjoyed her teaching as she now enjoys her retirement and feels richly rewarded for the years she spent in her chosen profession.

Mrs. Heckel installed the new officers and commended the work of those continuing in office and those retiring. She gave both a challenge to good service and encouragement to each officer as she was installed. The officers, elected at the morning session, are as follows: Mrs. R. H. Hodges of Fairfield, first vice-president to serve the remaining year for Mrs. S. C. Madden of Grayville, resigning; Mrs. Orval Duke of Metropolis, second vice-president, to serve two years; Mrs. Guy L. Johnson of Carmi, recording secretary to serve two years; and Mrs. W. F. Bennett, of Flora, to serve as treasurer.

ATTENDING the 24th District convention of the Federation of Women's clubs at the Presbyterian church Tuesday were front row (left to right): Mrs. Walter Collins, district vice-president and director Southern Region; Mrs. Ervin J. Heckel, state president; Mrs. J. L. Miller, 24th district president; and Mrs. E. Bishop Hill, president Harrisburg Women's club; second row (left to right): Mrs. Roy Seal, parliamentarian; Mrs. Guy Johnson, recording secretary; Mrs. R. H. Hodges, first vice-president; Mrs. Louise Leveau, retiring recording secretary; Mrs. Orval Duke, corresponding secretary; and Mrs. Wm. F. Bennett, district treasurer.

Mrs. Miller announced coming conventions and meeting of the district and state federations, particularly the state convention to be held in Chicago on May 7, 8 and 9. The program as she outlined it promises to be most entertaining and enlightening.

Mrs. S. C. Madden made the courtesies and recognized the members who have served so faithfully and well, and the church and committees which made of this convention such a successful and enjoyable occasion.

Motorist is Bitten by Rabbit

MARION, Ill. (AP)—Easter is over but a Franklin Park man still has visions of the bunny rabbit that bit him.

Nicholas Harry Ford, 38, was treated at Marion Memorial hospital early today for a bite on his thumb. He said his auto struck a rabbit on the highway and that the bunny bit him when he stopped to pick it up.

There is one hundred (100) acres of land in Pope county; the mineral right on it is opened for sale. There is forty (40) acres of this land that the top-right belongs to the Government. Twenty (20) acres of this land lies on the South side of what was the Charlie Holloman place.

From what I have been told the Mahoning people own this twenty (20) acres now. They have also got the mineral right on the Hearse forty-four (44) acres of land. The government owns the top right of this.

On the twenty (20) acres of land there has been a shaft sunk. There was spar thrown out of the bottom of the shaft just before it was shut down. These mines will never run until they get my assignment. -- Oscar Belford. I also have seen lead on it.

I can show lead on it if I can get a permit. I am sure there is lead on the twenty (20) acres that lies on the South side of it. I have also seen spar in eighty (80) acres of land that lies South of these that belong to Louie Lamar's widow and Bill Costigan heirs and another woman, so I have been told.

If anyone knows of the Bill Costigan heirs or this other woman that is interested in it let me know. I will show spar on this place. It won't cost you anything if I don't show the spar. Mineral men the cards must be turned face up on the table. I am not signing the back of any card.

Cotton Wardrobe Takes to Travel

On the honeymoon, a girl likes pretty clothes that are practical, too. This girl has included casual clothes in cotton corduroy that are easy on the upkeep. She wears (left), for hours in the sun, trimly tailored short-shorts with neat cuffed leg. Matching top is a cotton knit fashioned like a camisole. Her car coat (center) is ideal for all travel from spring to fall. It's wide wale corduroy with leather trim and big pockets. She wears it with a cloche that folds easily for packing. The classic corduroy jacket (right) is worn with matching pants in clam-digger length. Underneath, she has a cotton knit shirt trimmed with the corduroy.

WHY DO YOU READ THE NEWSPAPER? Copyright 1957, Bureau of Advertising of the American Newspaper Publishers Association, Inc.

"I get the styles and keep up-to-date on how I should look and whether I look like the rest of the kids"

Whether people want to "keep up-to-date" on world, national or local news, baseball scores or the latest styles in Bermuda shorts, the newspaper is the favorite medium — for adults and for teens.

It's the favorite because the newspaper has a wealth of reading for everybody. Newspapers serve almost all our 16,000,000 teens as well as the millions of adults who read daily newspapers. That's why daily newspaper circulation is highest in history — more than 57,000,000.

Advertisers should find it profitable to turn their attention to the youth market. According to a survey made recently for newspapers by Eugene Gilbert & Co., famous youth authority, teens spend over $9,000,000,000 a year of their own money on a variety of products. They also have considerable influence on family spending.

No matter what you sell; no matter how you sell it — nationally, regionally or locally — you'll find more prospects of all ages in the daily newspaper. Use it to get the greatest coverage with most profitable return.

Looking At Sports

By BILL MELTON

Sam DeNeal of Harrisburg is the only Saline county athlete listed on the spring sports rosters at Southern Illinois University.

DeNeal, a senior, is a star member of the track team. Last year Sam ran the 440-yard dash in :49.2 to set the SIU record for the event.

The latest SIU dope book lists all track records and Saline county boys are mentioned in six events.

Topping the record holders is Eugene Peyton, Carrier Mills flash of two decades ago. Peyton is one of five SIU men to run the 100-yard dash in :09.9, is co-holder with Charles Strusz of Carbondale of the 220-yard dash in :21.4 and holds the 220-yard low hurdle record in :23.9.

Quentin Stinson, Eldorado, hurled the discus 147 feet, 7 1/2 inches in 1948 for a record and DeNeal, in addition to holding the 440-yard mark was a member of the record cracking mile relay team of 1955 that covered the distance in 3:24.2.

Howard Street, who resigned from the Carrier Mills grade school to accept a position at a Memphis, Tenn., high school, will be missed on the local sports scene.

Street was grade school coach, did a lot of officiating and this past winter wrote a sports column for the Carrier Mills News. That just about covers all phases of the sports program.

Terry Bethel, Collinsville's great high school basketball player, has stated he will enroll at Vanderbilt University this fall. Bethel was on every all-star team picked in the state and also was named to the National High School All-Star team and appeared on a national TV show recently.

East St. Louis won the 26th annual West Frankfort Relays last Saturday by piling up 58 1/2 points. Centralia, with 43, was second. This marked the third consecutive year the Flyers took the West Frankfort Relay championship.

Next big track meet in southern Illinois is listed for Saturday, when the Herrin Relays will be staged.

A basketball game that should prove very interesting is scheduled to be played at the Pope County high school gym, Golconda, Friday, May 3, at 8 p. m.

Hazel Walker and her Arkansas Travellers, said to be the only women's basketball team in the country meeting men's teams and playing men's rules, will meet the Pope County Independents.

At half time Miss Walker will stage a free throw exhibition and will challenge all comers in the event from a standing, kneeling or sitting position.

Admission is 75 and 50 cents, including tax, and all proceeds will be used by the Pope County high school to furnish a class room.

Big car automobile racing will make its first appearance in Harrisburg this season on Sunday, May 5. Four championship drivers—Rocky Williams, 1948-1950 and 1956; Jerry Blundy, 1951-1952; Ray Blintrup, 1954—are among the twenty or more drivers expected to appear on the Saline County Fairgrounds track.

This will be one of at least two appearances on the local track as the big cars will race on the opening afternoon of the Fair Week, Sunday, July 28.

This will be a part of the championship season and some top notch racing is expected.

Baker, Rivers Dropped from Top Ten Boxers

NEW YORK (AP)—Bob Baker, Neal Rivers, Ramon Fuentes and Gil Cadilli were among the boxers dropped from the top ten in latest monthly Ring Magazine ratings released today.

Baker, the big Pittsburgh heavyweight who has been in and out of the ratings several times, was replaced by Willi Besmanoff of Germany, who beat him at New York a few weeks ago. Rivers dropped out of the middleweight rankings and Bobby Boyd of Chicago regained a spot among the top ten. George Barnes of Australia took 10th place among welterweights, dropping Fuentes out, and Mexico's Kid Anahuac is rated 10th among the featherweights, with Cadilli out.

For the most part, there were only minor changes from last month's ratings. Joey Giambra advanced from seventh to sixth in middleweight ranking, changing places with Joey Giardello, and Del Flanagan and Vince Martinez exchanged sixth and seventh places among welters, with Flanagan ahead now.

Chuck Spieser of Detroit, first-rank light-heavy challenger last month, was fifth this month after his kayo by Tony Anthony, who was named "fighter of the month."

Light-heavy champ Archie Moore was dropped from fifth to eighth among heavyweights since he hasn't been active, and Dai Dower of Wales, fifth among flyweights last month, dropped out of the ratings this month because of his one-round kayo by champ Pascual Perez and Dower's subsequent announcement of temporary retirement.

Order Completion Of Interrupted Senator-Oriole Tilt

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Washington Senators believe it was an "act of God" that the lights wouldn't go on during the second game of last Sunday's doubleheader, but they have accepted an official ruling that the game be completed from the point of interruption.

The Senators were leading the Baltimore Orioles, 2-1, when a short circuit prevented four of the eight light towers at Griffith Stadium from being turned on at the end of five innings. The game will be completed May 27 as a preliminary to a regular night game on that date.

The completion was ordered Tuesday by American League President Will Harridge, although American League rules do not provide for suspended games.

The Downstate Fisherman's Guide

Fishermen Fill Stringers with Bluegills at Sahara Lake

By Pete Brown
(From reports by the Southern Illinois Cooperative Fisheries Research Laboratory and the Illinois Department of Conservation)

Water conditions were excellent and the surface temperature stood at 60 degrees, a combination that made for some rousing bluegill fishing at Lake Sahara during the past week.

While unsettled conditions limited the angling success in other parts of southern Illinois, fishermen at Sahara — a dandy little lake described earlier in "The Guide" — were wielding flyrods and spinning combinations to productive advantage.

Worm and minnow disciples on the rock rip-rap band reported only moderate success but waders in a series of coves on the south side filled their stringers with fish.

Eighteen Sunday afternoon fishermen caught 104 bluegill, few of them weighing under 10 ounces. Ed Charles, SIU Fisheries Laboratory assistant, called the bluegill "some of the huskiest I've ever seen," and to prove it brought home eight he landed with a wet fly on his spinning rod. The string weighed in at six pounds.

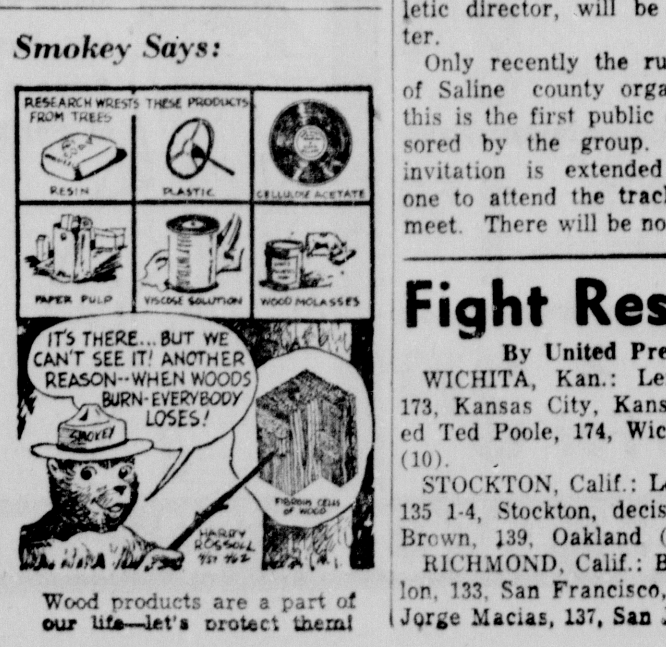

Using small crayfish on a fly-line, another hipbooted angler hooked 40 in two and one-half hours. Still another flyrodder, sticking to worms, landed 25 in one hour.

Crappie fishing at Crab Orchard and Little Grassy Lakes has been fair to good, and the action has continued unabated in Little Grassy Creek, where spillway run-over has deposited flocks of hungry gamefish.

Bass fishing at Grassy has been good. Best catches from Thursday through the weekend were: Luther Barnes, Marion, 10 bass, five of them over six pounds (Helldiver); Hank Randolph, two five-pounders (Helldiver); Clarence Berry, Carmi, a seven and one-half pounder and a five and one-quarter pounder (Crippled Shad); Jim Lilley, Marion, an eight pounder (black and white Helldiver); Bill Daumer, Marion, four going to 15 pounds (Helldiver), and George Rose, Benton, one five pounder (Helldiver) and another on an artificial eel.

Bullhead fishing at Crab Orchard has been rewarding, particularly on trotlines in the stumpy

Smokey Says:

Hambletonian Day at Du Quoin Fair August 27

Hambletonian Day at the Du Quoin State Fair will be Tuesday of Fair Week, August 27, officials announced this week. Tickets for the event have already gone on sale. The famed Hambletonian Stake, the world's top race for trotting horses, was formerly staged each August at Goshen, N. Y., but when facilities proved inadequate, the Du Quoin site was chosen as its new "home" because of spacious accommodations and a more central location.

According to E. J. Hayes, Du Quoin State Fair president, seating capacity is being doubled. "Construction has already begun," Hayes said, "on two new steel and concrete stands, flanking the main grandstand. This will increase the seating capacity to 20,000."

Don M. Hayes, Fair secretary, said that a temporary ticket office has been set up in the north wing of the Du Quoin Coca Cola Bottling Plant. Mail orders for tickets and information requests may be addressed to Du Quoin State Fair, Box 182, Du Quoin, Ill. Tickets for all other grandstand programs are also available. "Due to the Hambletonian and the magnitude of this year's Fair," Hayes stated, "we think it wise to begin the advance ticket sale earlier this year."

No estimate of this year's Hambletonian Purse has been made. However, last year's race was for $100,603, with $59,155 to the winner, The Intruder. Twenty-three-year-old trotters were entered in 1956, three heats being necessary. In 1950, the Hambletonian winner was Lusty Song, owned by Hayes Fair Acres Stable in Du Quoin.

With Hambletonian Day now part of the Du Quoin State Fair, thousands of new visitors representing every state will be annually attracted to Southern Illinois. According to Fair officials, a separate department is already in operation, handling requests for lodging reservations. Accommodations throughout the area have been catalogued, and President Morris of Southern Illinois University has announced that campus dormitories will also be available.

Vander Meer Fined For Using 'Foul' Language to Umpire

ORLANDO, Fla. (AP)—Former major league pitching star Johnny Vander Meer, who manages Palatka in the Class D Florida State League, has been fined for using "foul language to an umpire which was audible to many fans," but the fine was suspended for 60 days. Vander Meer was ejected from a game with Leesburg after daring the umpire to throw him out and kicked dirt under the arbiter's feet.

Williams Leads Errorless Red Sox to 3-1 Win Over Orioles; Cubs Trip Braves

By United Press
It figures to be another long summer for Boston Red Sox fans, but at least they were able to rejoice today over Ted Williams' fast getaway and the surprising errorless ball being played by their heroes.

Williams hit his second homer of the new campaign Tuesday in leading the Red Sox to a 3-1 victory over the Baltimore Orioles. He also added a run-scoring single — the 2,000th hit of his major league career — to raise his batting average to .423.

However, equally important to all Boston rooters is that the Red Sox stand out as the only errorless team in the majors after the first eight days of the season. Last year they wound up at the bottom of the American League team fielding averages with 169 errors in 155 games.

Sullivan The Winner

In Tuesday's game against the Orioles, the Boston infield handled 35 chances flawlessly. Backed up by this stout defense and Williams' hitting, Frank Sullivan easily posted his first victory of the season. The towering right-hander allowed only four hits, including a ninth inning homer by George Kell that saved the Orioles from a shutout.

While the Red Sox were protecting their errorless streak, the Chicago Cubs beat Milwaukee, 3-2, in 10 innings to drop the Braves into a first place tie with the idle Brooklyn Dodgers in the National League. Dick Littlefield, the third of four Chicago pitchers, picked up his first victory since being obtained from the New York Giants last week while Lew Burdette was the loser.

Herb Score pitched the Cleveland Indians to a four-hit, 5-0 triumph over the Chicago White Sox. The Tribe chased Billy Pierce in the third after piling up seven hits and a 3-0 lead. In avenging his opening day loss to Pierce and the White Sox, Score struck out seven and only walked two.

The New York Yankees missed a chance to take over first place from the White Sox by dropping a 3-1 decision to the Washington Senators. The Nats tied the score at 1-1 in the eighth and then won the game on Roy Sievers' two-run, two-out homer in the ninth off Johnny Kucks.

A similar last inning clout by Lou Skizas carried the Kansas City Athletics to a 5-4 squeaker over the Detroit Tigers. Harry Simpson and Bob Cerv also homered for the A's off rookie Don Lee, who was making his major league debut.

Rewarded with a surprise starting assignment by manager Bill Rigney, rookie Pete Burnside showed his appreciation by hurling the Giants to a three-hit, 1-0 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates. A double by Willie Mays and Hank Sauer's single in the fourth inning proved the difference.

Pinch-hitter Bob Thurman's two-run homer in the 10th inning gave the Cincinnati Redlegs a 6-4 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals in a night game. Frank Robinson and George Crowe also homered for the Redlegs.

The Rare Adventure

by BERNARD FERGUSON

THE STORY: Allan Lorg and Mollie have reached Seknou, home of a famous pirate relation of two centuries ago. They are welcomed at the hotel and seem to be expected.

For all the long drive of the morning, for all the heat, for all the enormous luncheon that he ate, and for all his addition to the Custom of the Country, Allan was eager to explore Seknou as soon as he had finished his coffee. It was Mollie who insisted on being allowed a reasonable time to digest.

"My darling! We've got the whole winter before us. What's the hurry?"

So off he went himself, turning left out of the hotel garden, and heading for the old town.

Nothing could have made that harbor more beautiful. It was the kind of little port that Sinbad might have sailed away from, thought Allan; and as if in response a string of camels chose that moment to come flat-footedly through the customhouse arch and wend their sly way to where one of the spongers was discharging her catch on the quay. Then he walked on to the tower; and there, with a jerk of excitement, he picked up the first confirmation since his arrival in Seknou that he was not, as Aymer Kennedy had forecast, upon a goose chase.

Hanging beside the door, in a frame marked, "Monument Historique," was a notice in French, reading:

This Tower, known as Bordj el Agareb or Tower of Scorpions, was erected by Dragut in 1558 and strengthened by Al Merhametsiz in 1729. It was partially destroyed in 1751 during the final defeat of the latter, but was rebuilt. Two guns mounted on the Tower were fired against the squadron of Admiral Garnault when he bombarded and captured the town in September, 1881.

Allan tried the door, and found himself in pitch darkness, and in a stink which would defy description. He decided at once to go and buy a torch, and let himself out of the Bordj, carefully shutting the door behind him.

Wandering along, he found that he was in the street of the cobblers; although most of the shops were idle, he heard at least one hammer at work, and found a young Jew working away, sitting on his own counter. Allan paused to watch him and to admire the dexterity of his fingers; and to make friends, offered him a cigarette. The young man thanked him and took it, but laid it on one side with a polite gesture indicating that he would smoke it later.

The thought occurred suddenly to Allan that there was a good chance to acquire some cheap suede shoes, such as Fakhr Nabulsi used to make in Amman before the war; he offered a mixture of French and Arabic, and in a moment or two the outline of his stockinged feet was being drawn on a piece of Arabic newspaper, with many a tear and crumple, and he was allowed to select his own skin. After some talk and pantomime, Allan made out that they would be ready the following evening. He heard the sound of feet coming along the street and became aware that they had stopped behind him; and then a gentle voice asked in French whether its owner could be of any help.

Allan turned, and found himself confronting a small monk, clad in the brown habit and sandals of the Franciscans. A black beard turning gray hung down on his chest; what little of his cheeks could be seen was as red as Father Christmas's.

"Perhaps you prefer English? It is many years since I have had a chance to speak it. I have been here 30 years."

A bell rang in Allan's mind. "Thirty years? Then can you be Father Paleologue?"

"I am indeed," said Pere Paleologue, looking surprised.

"M. Le Bouteiller in Tunis told me to introduce myself to you. My name's Colonel Lorg, and I'm here with my wife for a holiday."

"But I am delighted! You know my name already. And Le Bouteiller is a charming boy. My respects, Colonel."

"As a matter of fact, Father," he said, as they walked slowly along, "you are probably the one person who can help me."

"Anything I can do," said Paleologue, beaming.

Allan launched into a précis of the familiar tale. Paleologue listened, at first politely and then with increasing attention and gravity. When Allan came to mention Al Merhametsiz, Paleologue said "Ah!" as though he had been expecting it.

"Nobody could live here as long as I have without hearing something of your ancestor. I dare say I might find out more for you; but you have come, you know, at a difficult time."

"What I really want to know," said Allan, "is whether there are any direct traces of him—any papers, or relics. And are there by any chance descendants?"

Paleologue hesitated, and even then did not answer directly.

"There might be some traces. Perhaps I may come and see you in a day or two. What are you going to do tomorrow? You should go to the old synagogue at Areg el Kebir, for one thing; that is where there is said to be a stone of the original temple. Or if you want to swim, you must take a taxi or walk two kilometers to the south; it is too muddy here."

"I would much rather start searching for cousins!"

"Please do not be in too much of a hurry, Colonel. I will come and see you tomorrow and advise you."

Selective Service College Qualification Test Scheduled May 16

A special Selective Service Qualification Test will be given Thursday, May 16, for students who for reasons beyond their control were unable to take the regularly scheduled tests last November 15 and April 18, it was announced today by Colonel Paul G. Armstrong, Illinois Director of Selective Service.

Applications for the May 16 test may be obtained at any Selective Service local board and must be postmarked not later than midnight May 6, Colonel Armstrong said.

To be eligible to take the test a student must be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course and must not previously have taken the test. The score made by a student on the test gives his local board evidence of his aptitude for continued college work and helps the board determine whether he should be granted deferment as a student. His scholastic standing among the male members of his class may also be taken into account by the local board.
